Something About ME

Hi, My Name is ChenChih or C.C. I have been working on Technology industry for more than 7 years as testing engineer on many fields, involve cloud server field, and network field. I have graduated from Tamkang University with a bachelor's degree in Information Management.

I like web design, design tool, and animation since when I was in High school, so this is why I major in Information management. I have done Cryptography tutorial project as my graduation project. Throughout this experience I gain to learn lots of things which involve teamwork skills, time management skill, assign job to team etc.

I like to challenge many things, due to I think one of the biggest impact in people are their experience. As long as you challenge new thing, you would have some experience on it; don't think about the conclusion, think about the process what you gain.

In my leisure time I like to attend some speeches like to listen people sharing their stories, and learn skill from Internet. I spend many times watching Youtube channel which involve technology learning, design (web design skill/ UI/UX/ Coding/Data Science, and Data analysis), and also watch like TED talk related speaker stories. I highly recommend people to go challenge thing, and make a breakthrough, just like me.

I also like to engage with skill and people from different field. Usually like going through LinkedIn to find many talented people from different field, which involve Front End, Data Engineering, Data Science, UI/UX, Talent Acquisition, etc. I feel like knowing people from different industry will leverage my own view and indeed my own skills.

Given my background in testing skill as my experiences, I believe I will be a wonderful fit for any suitable position on Validation or Support related position. Lastly, I'm passion on my own work, and willing to help people when they encounter some difficult challenge or problem on work or life. I also play a good model as a good listener, to give some advice if they like to take as advantage.
